ORAL JUDGEMENT

#. By filing this petition, the petitioner-detenu has challenged his detention order dated 31.7.2002. By the impugned order, the petitioner-detenu is detained in exercise of the powers under section 3(1) of the Gujarat Prevention of Antisocial Activities Act,1985 (hereinafter referred to as "the PASA" for short), as, the detaining authority found that the detenu is a "bootlegger" and is required to be detained under the preventive detention, so that, he may not continue with such type of illegal activities.

#. Along with the detention order, the detenu was also served with the grounds of detention of the same date. In the said grounds, there is a reference of three criminal cases, which are pending against the petitioner under the provisions of the Bombay Prohibition Act.

#. At the time of hearing of this petition, it is argued by the learned advocate for the petitioner that even though the petitioner is in judicial custody in connection with first two cases and he was in police remand in connection with the last case, at the relevant time, yet the detention order is passed against him. It is submitted that, the authority has not properly considered the fact as to why still it is necessary to detain the petitioner by way of preventive detention when the petitioner is in judicial custody in connection with two cases. For that purpose, learned advocate has relied upon the decision of the Apex Court in the case of Amritlal and other Vs. Union Government, reported in AIR 2000 SC 3675, wherein the Apex Court in paras 4, 6 and 7 observed as under.:

"4. In Augustin's decision (1994 Supp (1) SCC 597) (supra) this Court also placed strong reliance on an earlier but oft-cited decision of this Court in Binod Singh v. District Magistrate, Dhanbad, (1986) 4 SCC 416 : (AIR 1986 SC 2090 : 1986 CriLJ 1959) wherein it was held that if a person is in custody and there is no imminent possibility of his being released therefrom, the power of detention should not ordinarily be exercised. This Court held that there must be cogent materials before the officer passing the detention order that the detenu is likely to be released on bail. The inference must be drawn from the available material on record and must not be the ipse dixit of the officer passing the order of detention. It is in this perspective as above, that the recording of the concerned officer in the matter under reference ought to be noticed and the same reads as below:-

"Even though prosecution proceedings under Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1985 have been initiated against Shri Amritlal I am satisfied that there is compelling necessity in view of the likelihood of his moving an application for bail and in the event of his being granted bail, the likelihood of his indulging in illicit traffic in narcotic drugs as is evident from the trend of his activities, to detain him under the Prevention of Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, 1988."

6. The requirement as noticed above in Binod Singh's case (AIR 1986 SC 2090 : 1986 Cri LJ 1959) (supra) that there is `likelihood of the petitioners being released on bail' that however is not available in the reasonings as provided by the concerned officer. The reasoning available is the `likelihood of his moving an application for bail' which is different from `likelihood to be released on bail'. This reasoning, in our view, is not sufficient compliance with the requirements as laid down.

7. The emphasis however, in Binod Singh's case (supra) that before passing the detention order the concerned authority must satisfy himself of the likelihood of the petitioner being released on bail and that satisfaction ought to be reached on cogent material. Available cogent material is the likelihood of having a bail application moved in the matter but not obtaining a bail order.

#. Mr.Pancholi, learned AGP, however, tried to justify the detention order even though the petitioner is in judicial custody. The detaining authority has observed in the detention order that the petitioner is in judicial custody in connection with the first two cases and he is in police remand in connection with the last case. However, in my view, the authority was required to state

as to on what basis, it has reached to the conclusion that the petitioner is required to be detained by way of preventive detention even though he is in judicial custody. It is also not stated that any bail application was pending at the relevant time in connection with the cases, in which, the petitioner is in judicial custody. There is nothing to show that the petitioner has moved any bail application in connection with the aforesaid cases. In that view of the matter and in view of the aforestated judgment of the Apex Court, the order of detention is required to be quashed and set aside.

#. In view of what is stated above, the petition is allowed. The order of detention dated 31.7.2002 is quashed and set aside. The detenu Ravindrasing @ Ravi Jayramsing Pawar (Rajput) is ordered to be set at liberty forthwith if he is not required in connection with any other case. Rule is made absolute accordingly.
